

Hands-on Data Protection & Cyber Security Workshop

The Hands-on Data Protection Officer (DPO) course, taught in a workshop format, is the first in the ASEAN region to offer a hands-on training programme that equips professionals, managers and executives (PMEs) with new competencies to enable them to perform their jobs as data protection officers.

Based on a practical approach, this 2-day course provides DPOs with the competencies they need to devise and implement policies and practices required by the Data Protection Act (DPA) and to support their organisation's compliance with it cost-effectively, efficiently and productively.

We don't just train you – we show you how to assess and treat compliance risks in the context of your organisation's activities.

At the end of the course, you have a Compliance Manual for your own organisation plus data privacy management software and other tools you may need!

"I find this course very practical and it actually gives you a good understanding of how to move forward. Implementing PDPA is not just putting up notices here and there. There are so many things to consider, like infosec policy, BYOD policy, etc., that we have to put in place. Not only that, there's such a thing as audit. Overall I find it useful and if you really want to implement PDPA, this is the workshop that you have to go for."

Teh Ah Huat — UMMC

"Very Interactive workshop that got us involved as much as we could. By the end of the workshop, we've done half the work that needs to be done. So far one of the best workshops I've attended."

Prita — Ramsay Sime Darby

"The usefulness of this course is that it is put in a structured manner on how to go about assessing, improving and sustaining the whole issue of PDPA. I think that the most useful thing is that you have developed a good software to support the effort."

May Lim — World Executive
